The bearers were classmates of young Hay who had come here last Saturday evening to attend the triennial of his class, '98. At the New Haven station upon the arrival of the casket. were a great many of Hay's classmates and many college people. They removed their hats while the body was being placed in the private car.

Socretary Hay, who arrived here from Washington early last evening in a very much prostrated condition, the result of the shocking news of his son's death, had recovered considerably during the night and was up early this morning. During the day he met a few of the university officials who called to tender their sympathy for the family's terrible loss. He was still under the care of Dr. S. D. Gilbert, who had been called to attend him last night To-day Dr Gilbert cautioned Secretary Hay about the danger of moving about too much during the morning, advice which he followed closely Hundreds of sympathetic telegrams have been received to-day by Secretary Hay. All the members of the Hay household had arrived in sown during the afternoon, the last two to reach here being Mrs. Hay and her daughter, who had come on from Newbury, N. H., where they were spending the

The mother was completely unnerved when she got to the home of Seth Mosely at so Well street, which had been placed at the disposal of Secretary Hay by the proprietor of the New Haven House. She railied considerably late in the afternoon.

The members of the class of '98 held a meeting to-day in Lyceum Hall and passed resolutions on the death of their distinguished classmate. A committee was appointed to present the resolutions to Secretary Hay. of which Payne Whitney, son of William C Whitney, was a member. The members of this class appeared to-day on the Yale campus in white canvas suits with white sailor hats on the bands of which was "Yale. 'os " There was talk at the meeting to dispense with the conspicuous uniform, but was finally decided to wear it. members of this class, including Hay, have met with violent deaths.

The other two were Lieut. Ledyard, who was killed while loading a charge in the Philippines, and Robert Callendar who was found dead pear his home in Providence, R. I., last

A ball game, arranged to take place between the '98 and '95 men to-morrow morning, at which young Hay was to have been present.

The death of his son will prevent Secretary Hay going to Harvard to take the degree of LL. D. that was to be conferred by that university at this year's commencement He was to have gone to Cambridge to-day for that purpose. Under the dreumstances will not receive the degree masmuch as Harvard has a rul that the recipient of dours must have it conferred personally

There were no new developments to-day n the story of young Hay's death. It is generally accepted by all his college friends and by those who are familiar with the details that he fell asleep while cooling off restng on the window still of his room and rolled age. The marriage was performed in the parsonage of the Baptist Church at Flushing and while making a grab for it be lost his balance and fell to the walk. The ring was found on the walk some distance from Hay's body. Hay, about 8 o'clock on Saturday night, had a twenty minutes' talk with James Donnelly, one of the Yale campus policeman, who was a great friend of the young man. Donnelly said to-night that Hay told him he was going back one of these days to Pretoria to visit the Boers who at first were somewhat prejudiced against him. If have a great many friends there now, and they are fine people, too," he added.

The train to which were attached the two special cars bearing the Secretary of State and his family and the body of his son reached the Grand Central Station at 9 o'clock last night. The two cars did not come into the station, but were transferred in the yards to the mail train which leaves for the West at 9:15 o'clock. This train ordinarily carries no passengers. It will reach Cleveland at 12:25 this after noon.

CONDOLENCES TO SECRETARY HAY. Messages of Sympathy From the King of England, the President of France and Others.

WASHINGTON. June 24 -Telegrams of sympathy to Secretary Hay, from all over the United States and from Europe, have come to the State Department to-day. Among them were messages from the King of England and the President of France. In addi tion to these expressions, nearly every member of the diplomatic corps in Washington called at the State Department and expressed to Dr. Hill, the acting Secretary of State, condolences in behalf of himself personally and of his Government officially. Early in the day, acting Secretary Hill telegraphed to E. J. Babcook, Secretary Hay's private secretary, who is with him at New Haven, to learn Mr. Hay's wishes in regard to designating some one to represent the State Department at Adelbert Hay's funeral Mr. Babcock said in response that the funeral would take place in Cleveland, and would be strictly private, and that no official representatives were expected

SINGERS AT THE EXPOSITION.

The North American Saengerbund Divides Attention With William J. Bryan.

BUFFALO, June 24 - With 3.500 member of the North American Saengerbund and their uncounted families and friends on the Exposition grounds to-day, the American Canoe Association very wisely took to the water. Some of the singing societies watched the paddlers from a cool vantage point which had an excise license. The singers quite owned the Exposition to-day and divided attention with William J. Bryan, who with his family spent most of the day at the grounds. National Committeeman Norman E. Mack gave a dinner to Mr. Bryan at Alt Nurnberg on the Midway to-night. All All Numbers on the Midway to-night. All the local Democratic leaders were present. So was Comptroller Coler of New York. Mr Bryan is to depart for Watertown to-morrow. The Canoe Association, which has been entertained at the Buffalo Canoe Club's quarters on the Canadian shore, brought its boats to Park Lake in the Exposition grounds to-day, and will hold races to-morrow. The Midway shows and the Exposition management are in controversy again over the order excluding women from the Ballyhoo and requiring more clothes. Several of the shows went right ahead to-day, alleging that their contract was to produce dances really typical of foreign peoples. The Hawaii show manager said it was absurd to put stockings on his girls, and announced, moreover, that following a national custom the performers would wear less clothes every day as the heat increased. The Exposition has the best of the argument, however, as under the form of contract the concession holders have waived nearly every right except that of trial by jury for a capital crime.

GOVERNMENT SUES SENATOR CLARK. Wants to Bevoke Patents He Holds to Valuable Timber Lands.

HELENA, Mon., June 24 .- Suit was begun in the United States District Court this afternoon, by District Attorney W. B. Rodgers for the Department of Justice of the United States against Senator William A. Clark, to set saide patents issued under the Timber and Stone act and assigned to him for Government lands in this State. The suit involves nearly 10,000 acres of timber lands, valued at many thousands of dollars.

The Attorney-General seeks to have the patents issued by the Interior Department set aside, on the ground that the persons to whom they were issued, in their declaratory statement, subscribed to the required affidavit that they were not procuring the lands for speculative purposes, of for any other person than themselves, nor to sell to any second party. In brief, the Department of Justice alleges that the entries were made by the people who used their timber and stone right with a view to selling to W. A. GUSTAY BREDING LOCKED UP. Alloged Sen of George M. Pullman Was 860,000 -- Hand-to-Hand Fight.

CHICAGO, June 24.-Gustav H. Behring, who alleges to be a son of George M. Pullman and who was sent to Germany by the Pullman family, had a hand-to-hand fight with Frank O. Lowden, Pullman's sonin-law, and Judge Herbert J. Davis in the Woman's Temple shortly before noon to-day Judge Davis, it is said, drew a revolver and held Behring at bay, while Mr. Lowden telephoned for the police. Detectives Thompson and Kane responded to the call and after a struggle subdued Behring, who fought desperately. He was locked up in the Central police station on a charge of disorderly conduct, both Mr. Lowden and Judge Davis refusing to prefer charges of a more serious nature against him. When Behring appeared in Mr. Lowden's office he demanded $5,000 cash and a promise from the son-in-law of the palace car man that he would give him $60,000 before next December in installments of $10,000, payable monthly.

Upon Mr. Lowden's refusal Behring turned to Judge Davis. He accused him of having hired the men who held him up near Lincoln Park in 1898 and robbed him, as he claims, of the papers which would have proved he was the son of George M. Pullman.

Pullman.

According to Behring, who showed no signs of excitement when he reached Central police station, Judge Davis drew a revolver and tried to shoot him. Judge Davis denies this. He says that he picked up a paper weight and tried to defend himself, but had no deadly weapon. Behring insists that as he turned to leave the office two men who he declared were Judge Davis and Mr. Lowden, sprang upon him, and that one held him in a corner while the other ran to the telephone. Judge Davis said Behring had been taken from his office and that he had caused some trouble. His secretary said Mr. Lowden was out of town and therefore could have had no part in the affair.

PAYMASTER MARTIN REPRIMA NDED. Secretary Long Thinks His Sentence by the Court-Martial Is Inadequate. WASHINGTON, June 24 -One of the severest was some doubt expressed by members of the Presbytery last night as to the disposition of micial reprimands ever delivered to a wave officer is contained in a letter sent by the the majority of the Presbytery to approve of Secretary of the Navy to-day to Paymaster call to Dr Moment from any Brooklyn John R Martin, at the League Island Navy It was not possible to learn yesterday what Yard, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge had brought Dr. Moment to his decision not nvolving the issue of Government money in advance to himself and a brother officer. to make a fight for vindication at the meeting, but it was said that the Rev. Dr. Carson, The court sentenced Paymaster Martin to be who has been active in the Moment matter repremanded, the lightness of the sentence being due to the fact that no attempt to defrom the beginning, has spent many days and nights in his efforts to bring it to the fraud the Government was charged. alty In his letter he says: "The general court-martial before which you were recently tried at the Navy Yard. League Island, Pa., found you guilty of 'violation of section 1898 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and sentenced you to be reprimended by the Secretary of the The proceedings, findings and sen-Navy. ence of the court have been approved, subject to the qualifications contained in the following remarks, which will be embraced in the general court-martial order in your case and are regarded as a compliance with the requirement of the sentence that you be reprimended.

a thoughtful reading of the documentary evidence of his trial. He has for some time had a transcript of the oral testimony before the commission which tried him, and he was, of course, in a superficial way, conversant with the documentary evidence, letters for the most part. He complained recently, however, that he had no copy of the documentary evidence. One was furnished to him last Wednesday. A deliberate study of these documents seemed, as one of the younger members of Presbytery said last night, to have caused the reverend gentleman to see a light.

This is the statement, in part, which Dr. Moment fead to the Presbytery. MR. MODERATOR AND BRETHREN: Before the Mn. Moderator and Eretheen: Before the Presbytery proceeds to a consideration of this case. I desire to make a statement not only in deference to the feelings of my friends, but also in satisfaction of my own sense of what I feel due to the Presbytery I am persuaded, brethren, that the charge of untruthfulness now pending against me in this Prisbytery is based on a misunderstanding of what I mean when I said that no one had ventured to perjure his soul by swearing immorality against me on the preceding trial. In the sense in which I used the word, I meant immorality in its grosser form and as so used, the statement was true, but in the broader sense in which the word may be taken, my statement would not be regarded as true. I had no intention to speak anything that was not true. The sentence does not appear to be ade-The sentence does not appear to be adequate to the nature of the offence, which is a plain and flagrant violation of a very salutary provision of law with which every officer is assumed to be familiar. The court has, in disregard of a regulation (article 1840, paragraph 4), made in pursuance of the authority conferred upon the Secretary of the Navy by statute, stricken from the charge the words that characterize your offence, although you had already pleaded guilty of scandalous conduct.

In Department gives full weight to your ment was true; but in the broader sense in which the word may be taken, my stalement would not be regarded as true. I had no intention to speak anything that was not true.

With reference to the charge of contumacy based upon my failure to return the call of the Immanuel Church into the hands of the Presbytery, and upon disobedience to the direction of the judicial commission that I reftain from preaching in Immanuel Church. I admit that my action in these particulars was ill advised and misguided. Not in extenuation, but simply in explanation of this item of disobedience. I desire to say that at the time, laboring under great stress of excitement. I deemed it to be, as I had deemed the direction of the Presbytery and the judicial commission before referred to, without authority.

With reference to the original charge of untruthulness, my brettness. I ogs to say that at the time I was confronted with the rumor charging me with a serious offence I was in great distress of mind, was excited and bewildered to such extent that I was not in complete possession of myself, nor able to realize always the exact inguare that I may have used. Conscious of my inno ence thereof, and endeavoring to vindicate my panie, I cannot derve that I made statements which were not in accordance with the exact situation. For talls I am sincerely filled with regret.

guilty of 'scandalous conduct.'

Ine Department gives full weight to your good record. You are, however, guilty of a serious offence, committed in violation of law and regulation. The acts charged were, in fact, an appropriation to your own use of public money held by you in trust. It was not even the case of money due you but not ver payable. Had you died or otherwise left the service there would have been a shortage. That you had resources or funds elsewhere at your command to make it good is of no consequence. You refer to certain of the advances as shortage. That you had resources a selection of the solutions of sof no consequence.

You refer to certain of the advances as 'trivial' A breach of financial trust or a misuse of public funds is never trivial. You also state that overpayments to officers have been the rule rather than the exception throughout the service. If so—and the Pepartment is advised that it is not so—you are bereby notified that such practice must stop at once. Nothing can be more demoralizing and conductive to fraud and defalcation than to open the door, ever so slightly, to such misuse of funds. Every Paymaster, every officer must understand the state of the such misuse of funds action were not taken in your case the entire service might infer that such violations and abuses are winked at. The Department cannot understand how any Paymaster, with a proper sense of his duty, can thus put to his sown use the money of the Government. If $500 be misapplied, then $5,000 and the next step is embezzlement, which indeed, might have been charged in this case.

Your previous good character and reputation cannot for a moment be regarded as a metification of your misconduct. It may be, and is, considered by the Department in judging of your motive, but not in its condemnation of your offence.

You are hereby released from arrest and receipt of this communication.

exact situation. For this I am sincerely filled with regret.

With reference to the charge of conduct unbecoming a minister. I would say, my brethren, that I am absolitely innocent of any wrong doing in the way of immorality in its grosser form. I do confess to certain conduct that was unbecoming a minister of the gospel without however, any realization at the time that the conduct was reprehensible in itself. No thought of evil was in my mind at the time and at first I was snocked and suspefied to see that on my relating it to others they demeg it to be reprehensible. I am heartily grieved for anything in my conduct that may have brought sorrow to the Church of Christ or to any of my brethren, and for this I carnestly begune parton of the Presbytery and the church. The good will and confidence of my brethren have been or to any of my brethren, and for this I cannestly beg good will and condidence of my brethren have been exceedingly sweet and preclous to me.

Dr. Moment, in his apology, laid much stress on the fact that he was unable to give up his call at the time when it was demanded by the Presbytery, because he had sent it back to the session of Immanuel Church, and the session would not give it back to him. He then formally delivered the call into the hands of the cierk of the Presbytery.
There was a stir in the room as he did so.

The Rev. Dr. Carson said that he had two resolutions to offer. The first was that, the Moderator should rebuke Dr. Moment for his conduct and his tardiness in coming to a reallising sense of his misdoings. There were speeches by several members of the Presbytery in support of this resolution, to the effect, that, in view of the apparent sincerity of the statement of Dr. Moment, the sentence of suspension passed upon him by the Judicial Commission representing the Presbytery was removed. This was also passed, and the Presbytery proceeded to other business. Some of the laymen present were much agitated because they thought that Dr. Moment had been restored to the charge of Immanuel Church. It was explained after the meeting that this belief was far from having any basis in fact. Six Deaths From Plague Occurred on the Passage From Hong Kong.

This information was desired to assist the board in its preparation of plans for two battleships and two armored cruisers to be presented to Congress in December for its consideration. Several plans defining the character and disposition of the batteries on the battleships are before the board. One of these calls for the most powerful main battery every proposed for an American warship, embracing four 12-inch and six 10-inch guns.

warship, embracing four 12-inch and six 10-inch guins.

The design provides for two superposed turrets one fore and the other aft, each containing two twelves and two eights, and six ordinary turrets, three to the broadside, each containing two eights.

The superposed turret question is again being fought over, and despite the understanding that turrets of that character had been adopted by the navy as a permanent type it is likely that the board will split in it conclusions on the subject. Whether the majority is for or against the further use of the superposed type is a not been definitely determined. Two of the five members are said to be heartily in favor of superposed turrets for the new battleships. Whichever way the board decides, the majority is not likely to be more than one vote.

Treasury Redeeming Hawaiian Bonds. WASHINGTON, June 24 .- Under authority

ries Government horses to the Philippines. of a recent act of Congress, the Treasury Department, during the months of May and Ask your druggist for VETERINARY June redeemed $2,220,000 of Hawalian bonds June redeemed $2,220,000 of Hawaiian bonds and paid $750,000 to the depositors of the Hawaiian postal savings banks This leaves about $1,000,000 of the bonds yet outstanding and these too would have been called in but for the fact that they are not yet due. This entire issue was floated in London and under the terms of issue cannot be redeemed before Jan 1 next. The Treasury Department will shortly issue notice to the London holders that this Government intends caling in the bonds for payment on Jan 1, and that interest will cease after that date.
